

RED CROSS SEALS DRIVE STARTS

Workers Must Keep Busy Actively
If Quota For State Is To Be Realized.

Sales of the first six days of the Red Cross Christmas Seals have not been up to the mark set by the promoters of the sale, which include every public health agency in Kentucky. The State Board of Health, the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association, the Red Cross, the Public Health Nursing Associations in all parts of the state, and the County Tuberculosis Associations.

Many stamps have been sold in the intensive campaign in Northern Kentucky, where W. C. Ryerson, a newspaper live wire, is chairman. In Western Kentucky and in Central Kentucky, too, reports show that many seals have been sold, but not enough to make the state's quota unless they are considerably increased.

In Lexington the school children have sold their quotas and have sent in requisitions for more seals. Major Ernest B. Ellis, who is Assisting Chairman J. A. Goodson there, offered prizes of $100 for the best seals salesmen among the children, and the very first day the school quota was all sold.

It is hoped to finish the campaign this week, but if necessary, it will be continued until the quota of $130,660 is raised. Many more seals are expected to be sold this week.

EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS AT THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The revival services at the Christian church started off well last Sunday, with large audiences and enthusiastic spirit. The music has been a splendid feature; the large chorus choir, directed by Mrs. Loring Turley, has led some of the very best congregational singing Mt. Sterling has heard in many a day. Mrs. Turley has rendered a special solo at each service with fine effect. Mr. Darsie, the pastor of the church, has been preaching some plain, practical and very searching sermons. Up to Monday night there had been ten additions to the church. The meetings are announced to continue for one week only, so the closing service will be held next Sunday night. The hour of beginning is 7 o'clock, and the general public is invited to attend.

MORROW IS NOW GOVERNOR

Edwin P. Morrow Was Inaugurated
Governor of Kentucky at the Capitol Today.

Edwin P. Morrow, of Somerset, is Governor of Kentucky, and S. Thruston Ballard, of Louisville, lieutenant governor.

The gun, which fired the first shot for America in the world war, announced this fact in the governor's salute of 17 rounds from the Capitol grounds at high noon, when Messrs. Morrow and Ballard took the oath of office before Chief Justice John D. Carroll, standing on a platform erected at the main entrance to the State Capitol.

Immediately after being sworn in the new governor and lieutenant governor repaired to the State reception room, adjoining the executive offices, where for more than an hour they received the congratulations of hundreds of their partisans.

Former Chief Justice E. C. O'Rear acted as master of ceremonies at the inauguration and just preceding the inaugural address Governor James D. Black was introduced by Judge O'Rear and delivered a brief valedictory, wishing success to the incoming administration.

The inaugural program was interspersed with music by Smith's band of Cincinnati.

The Rev. Henry Talbot, Presbyterian minister of Somerset, pronounced the invocation, and the Rev. R. J. Boland, of the Catholic church, Somerset, the benediction.

The parade preceding the inaugural ceremonies was one of the longest and most imposing ever witnessed at the inauguration of a Kentucky Governor. The line extended almost from the starting point to the Capitol a mile away. A dozen bands and drum corps kept the marchers in step and a hundred automobiles carried the distinguished guests from all parts of the State.

The military section included an infantry detachment and two field pieces with their crews from the First Division, Major General Charles Summerall and staff, massed colors of the eight regiments of the division and their commanding officers, the Kentucky State Guard and the Franklin County Legion in uniform.

The First Division came over land and was met just outside the city by Sergeant Willie Sandlin, of Leslie county, wearing decorations awarded him by the French and American governments, and conducted to their place in line.

Governor-elect Morrow arrived Monday evening in an automobile from Louisville and is at the residence of Dr. John G. South. Other State officers-elect are guests in private homes.

Mrs. Morrow and her daughter and son arrived earlier in the day.

"My first official act," he said, "will be to appoint Alvin T. Hert, Louisville, and Charles R. Moriarty, Covington, colonels on my staff. They are both warm personal friends of mine."

The flag, which covered the bier of President William McKinley, afterwards presented to the late Senator W. O. Bradley, uncle of the new governor, decorated the inaugural platform.

All the marshals and aides are members of the American Legion, under the direction of Major Jackson Morris, who was secretary to Governor Willson, and his aides, Major C. W. Longmire and Major T. W. Woodyard, the latter of whom is now head of the automobile department.

BAPTISTS GO OVER THE TOP

In 75,000,000 Campaign — Local Church Pledges More Than Its Quota in Big Drive

The local Baptist church has more than pledged its quota of $20,000 in the 75 million campaign which closed last Sunday. The amount pledged will total more than $21,000.

The pastor made the announcement at the close of the Sunday evening service. The members gathered about the pulpit and sang "Praise God, From Whom all Blessings Flow," rejoicing in their hearts because of this victory they had won. One was received into the church and the hand of church fellowship extended to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Guy Sandifer, Miss Mary Sandifer, Mrs. George Styles.

The campaign has been a great blessing to the church. A new life and a new spirit is in evidence everywhere.

WAR-TIME RESTRICTIONS ON THE USE OF COAL

Fuel Administrator Garfield, by an order Monday night restored for the entire nation most of the drastic restrictions on lighting and heating which were in effect during the coal shortage of 1917-18.

The limitations which are applicable to consumers of bituminous coal and coke, were made effective Monday night with issuance of the order and are to be enforced by the Railroad Administration.

Consumers of anthracite coal, gas and other fuels are not affected by the order.

The restrictions were announced through the Railroad Administration as follows:

"Railroad stations, hotels, hospitals, telephone, telegraph and newspaper offices are not included insofar as necessary lighting is concerned.

"General and office lights must be cut off not later than four P. M., in office buildings except necessary federal, state and municipal offices, and except where office operation

SUGAR CONTROL CEASES DECEMBER 31ST

The government will not attempt to control distribution and sale of sugar after the Sugar Equalization Board is dissolved December 31st.

Attorney General Palmer, in making this announcement, said that since no funds had been provided by Congress for carrying on work of handling sugar the Department of Justice would confine its efforts to punishment of profiteers.

In explaining abandonment of the program for defeating the sugar shortage Mr. Palmer said he had put the proposition up to Congress, as he lacked "power and facilities" for obtaining tangible results.

for continuance of control under supervision of the Department of Justice, he said, necessary funds and authority were not forthcoming.

Mr. Palmer's action was generally accepted as opening sources of more sugar supplies by permitting refiners to pay more for the Cuban raw stock, it also was believed to mean that sugar prices would soar.

The department will continue to hunt down profiteers, but without means of checking up on cost to the refiner or without control of the price at which supplies come into this country.

It is believed domestic consumers would be forced to pay high prices after January 1.

FOURTEENTH DECENNIAL CENSUS OF THE U. S. A PROCLAMATION

Whereas, by the Act of Congress, approved March 3, 1919, the Fourteenth Decennial Census of the United States is to be taken beginning on the second day of January, 1920; and

Whereas, a correct enumeration of the population every ten years is required by the Constitution of the United States for the purpose of determining the representation of the several states in the House of Representatives; and

Whereas, it is of the utmost importance to the interests of all the people of the United States that this census should be a complete and accurate report of the population and resources of the nation;

Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do hereby declare and make known that, under the law aforesaid, it is the duty of every person to answer all questions on the census schedules applying to him and the family to which he belongs, and to the farm occupied by him or his family, and that any person refusing to do so is subject to penalty.

The sole purpose of the Census is to secure general statistical information regarding the population and resources of the country and replies are required from individuals only to permit the compilation of such general statistics. No person can be harmed in any way by furnishing the information required. The Census has nothing to do with taxation, with military or jury service, with the compulsion of school attendance, with the regulation of immigration or with the enforcement of any national, state or local law or ordinance. There need be no fear that any disclosure will be made regarding any individual person or his affairs. For the due protection of the rights and interests of the persons furnishing information every employee of the Census Bureau is prohibited, under heavy penalty, from disclosing any information which may thus come to his knowledge.

I therefore earnestly urge upon all persons to answer, promptly, completely and accurately all inquiries

PUBLIC AUCTION MONDAY, DEC. 15TH

(County Court Day)

As agent for Lester W. Lee I will sell on the above date and at the Court House door, Mt. Sterling, Ky. (if not sold privately before), his excellent farm, lying on the Paris pike, one-half mile from Sideview, Montgomery county, at the hour of 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and containing

108 Acres of Rich, Fertile, Limestone Land

This farm is known as the Dave Gaitskill place, and the improvements consist of a good, substantial frame cottage of 5 rooms, pantry and two porches, and all necessary outbuildings, all of which are in excellent condition, with good roofs. There is a good cistern, good orchard of young and old trees, bearing; excellent garage, where you can drive your car from the pike. The residence sets in beautiful yard amidst shade trees, and is situated in a healthy location. There is also a tobacco barn, built only few years; tool and sheep shed; stock barn, all in good condition. The farm is well watered by pond, 4 or 5 springs, with everlasting water; one concrete watering trough fed by spring, which will furnish water for all stock that can be kept on the place. The fencing is mostly all wire and both inside and outside is good.

15 acres of this farm is sown to wheat and blue grass, with fine stand, and the balance is in blue grass seed. The land is walnut and wild cherry and is in high state for cultivation of tobacco or any other crop. We are frank to say that the entire farm will grow as fine tobacco as any farm in the Blue Grass section, and produces at all times a heavy yield as well as a highly colored crop of tobacco. One only has to go and look at the tobacco now in the barn on the place to be convinced that the statement is true.

We do not believe that we have ever offered under the hammer as good a farm, quality of soil and location considered, as this one, where practically every acre can be cultivated, and when we call this farm a REAL TOBACCO FARM we know what we are talking about. There is NONE BETTER.

The neighborhood is as good as can be found anywhere, with school close, and only seven miles from Mt. Sterling.

If you want to buy a good farm, in first-class condition, just ready for the plow, the sale of this land offers you the opportunity. Come in and let me show you this farm or drive down and look it over. IT IS A GOOD ONE AND WE WILL TAKE PLEASURE IN SHOWING YOU THE PROPERTY.

TERMS WILL BE ANNOUNCED ON DAY OF SALE.

Remember the time, hour and place, 1 o'clock, P. M., at the Court House door, Mt. Sterling, Ky., Monday, December 15, 1919.

The old-fashioned advertising man who had to get up White Goods sales for department stores had to have cuts of corset covers and Princess Slips and Whitecollars, and he had to describe plans and specifications and classify garments as Parisian and Parisian. R. F. D. SERVICE IS CHEAP IN KENTUCKY

With the sole exception of Pennsylvania, Kentucky has more post-offices than any other state in the Union, according to figures in the report of the Postmaster General, made public. Pennsylvania leads with 3,124, while Kentucky is second with 2,538. Of these nine are first class, 38 second class and 125 third class, making a total of 172 presidential offices, and 2,366 are fourth class. Texas, Virginia and New York rank next in the order given.

The Postmaster General's report for the fiscal year ending June 30 last gives the gross postal receipts of the offices of first and second class for the year as $3,757,898.37; third class, $1,082,156.99; fourth class, $140,862.54; total postal receipts for the state, $4,980,917.90. The compensation paid to postmasters in the state amounted to $800,308.07 for the year.

The city delivery service in Kentucky cost $582,400.74, and rural delivery service, $1,246,243.20. There were in the state on June 30 last 805 rural routes, covering 20,801 miles and serving 704,283 patrons. The annual cost per patron is given as $1.79.

The cost of the rural mail service in Kentucky per piece handled is by far the lowest in the United States, as shown by this report. While the average annual cost for the United States per piece of mail handled is 1.79 cents, the cost for Kentucky is only .52 of one cent, and only California, with a cost of .92 of a cent per piece comes anywhere near the Kentucky record. The highest cost is in New Mexico, where it costs 3.22 cents per piece to handle the rural route.

A Prominent Woman's Testimony

Louisville, Ky.:—"I can certainly praise Dr. Pierce's remedies for the benefit I have received from them. The 'Lotion Tablets' I used on my doctor's recommendation about four years ago. I had a condition that weakened me terribly and I lost flesh as well. These tablets cured me of all inflammation. I afterwards took the 'Favorite Prescription' and it built me up in health and strength; my weight increased seven pounds while taking the first bottle. I have also taken Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for biliousness and inactive liver, and am confident that there is no other medicine made that can equal them for giving prompt relief."—MRS. Covington, Ky.:—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery are the very best medicines I have ever taken. They brought me thru when I was so ill that I was bedfast for weeks. I had heard so much about Dr. Pierce's medicines that I finally sent for the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription' and with the first few doses that I took my health commenced to improve until I became a perfectly well woman. I cannot praise these medicines too highly. I only hope this statement will be the means of other women who are weak and suffering, especially those at the critical time of middle life, giving Dr. Pierce's medicines a trial."—MRS. CARIE PAYNE, 1458 Cordelia St.

Christmas Chimes

By O. F. PFEIFFER

(Copyright.)

THE village chimneys rang out a mellow strain clear and vibrant as golden beads dropped into a crystal dish, but Adam Marsh drew his worn fur cap down closer about his ears and scowlingly took a short cut towards his desolate home.

He had neither chick nor child, only money. He hardened his soul against futile suggestions and tried to glory in the humanizing influence of home, social friendship and "the folly called love!" Then he came to a sudden halt and sprang behind a tree. There was a light in the room where he slept. Against the lamp light there was outlined the figure of a roughly dressed man standing at an open bureau. Marsh stole to the kitchen, took down an ancient horse pistol, and, gliding to the door of the lighted room, burst it in.

"What are you doing here?" he shouted out. "Hands up!"

It was rather a weak than an evil face that confronted him. Its owner looked crestfallen, rather than sullen.

"I—I was looking for something to eat," he stammered out.

"That's likely outside of the kitchen, isn't it, now?" snarled Marsh derisively.

"Well then, finding nothing in the kitchen I hoped I could pick up some little trifle that would bring me a meal. Say, I'm not a genuine bad one. I never touched a cent that was not my own until this very day. And this has so shamed me, that all I ask is strength to carry back what I took."

"Yah!" jeered Marsh. "Sort of robbing Peter to pay Paul, hey? Now then, I'll run no risks of your turning on me. Empty your pockets," and the man disgorged a rusted jackknife and something that glowed with the glint of gold.

"Back to yonder corner," ordered Marsh raspingly. "What's this?" and his nimble fingers, clutched a locket and chain the other had placed on the table.

"It isn't yours, nor mine!" burst out the intruder. "Say, I must take that back where it belongs. Listen to me. It was ten miles down the road, in a wretched little hovel. In the front room was a pale, wearily woman attending to her sick husband. In a back room was a little angel of a girl child, asleep on a torn thin blanket. I noticed the chain and locket around the child's throat. I sneaked up and took it. I've a wife and two little tots in the city; lost my job and was tramping, looking for work. I was frantic as I thought of their wretched Christmas and I hurried away to sell the trinket and steal a ride home on the bumpers. Don't shoot!" for Marsh, opening the locket and scrutinizing the portrait within shook his head to foot, and with glaring eyes viewed the locket as though it were some boiling wrath.

Ah! how it recalled to him the bright, sunny-faced daughter he had shut out from heart and home the day she eloped with Rodney Blair. He had never sought to learn of her fate. And now the locket she had worn he had strangely found, cherished and protected by her little child with his picture still in it.

"My man," he said, "if you will take me to where you found the people you tell of, your dear ones shall have a Christmas, indeed."

"I'll do that for nothing," half sobbed the pent-up fellow.

Little Cora Blair was sobbing in her mother's arms as Adam Marsh reached the doorstep of the home of the unfortunates. He heard her say: "Oh, mamma, can't we search for my pretty locket? Every night when I say my prayers and ask a blessing for the dear grandfther I have never seen, I shall miss seeing his picture."

"Merry Christmas and—forgiveness!" spoke Adam Marsh, pushing the door open. "Allice, I've come to make up for my cruelty and neglect." And when the pent-up had faithfully returned from the village stores with a homely basket full of Christmas cheer and gifts for the little one Marsh had ordered, he started for the city with a warm, snug roll of bank notes in his hand.

"Now for my own home and the Merry Christmas of my dear ones!" he muttered. "Oh, I'll never stray away from the straight path and then again," and in a wild ecstasy he sang in accord with the chiming bells: "Peace on earth and good will to all men!"

We have two houses, so can take care of you at any time. Our stockholders are all farmers and growers of tobacco and we run our houses strictly on a commission basis. The past season we sold more tobacco per square foot of floor space than any warehouse in Lexington and on over four million pounds sold we averaged $40.66. There is no question in our minds but that it pays to sell your tobacco on the Lexington market regardless of any small inconvenience or expense it might be to you. Special attention to trucks. Baker, the best auctioneer in town, works exclusively for us.

WORKERS MUST DO THEIR DUTY

During the war, when this country was trying to save the world from barbarism and save Christianity from the destructive power of atheism, as expressed through Germany's war upon civilization and Christianity, it was deemed the proper thing that from every pulpit in the land, Catholic and Protestant and synagogue alike, there should go forth a constant call to patriotism, an unceasing effort to arouse the nation to the need of standing behind the soldiers and the government in the purchase of Liberty Bonds and in subscribing to the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus and other organizations of a similar character.

Today a greater need faces the nation—a need to quicken patriotism to arouse every latent activity of the land in behalf of increasing the output of farms and of factories to meet the demand which is now far in excess of the supply and to build dwellings by the hundreds of thousands, so that people may be able to find adequate housing facilities, and to build hotels, in order that some slight degree of comfort may again be possible by enlarged facilities for those who travel.

If the gospel of work could be preached in every pulpit to the utmost power of the ministers; if every paper in the land could be filled with editorials urging enlarged production, more earnest and efficient work and if these matters could be pressed from the viewpoint of solemn duty of the individual man and woman to the welfare of the nation and to the help of humanity, it might be possible to overcome some of the disadvantages under which the nation now labors.

Today it is more important that the minister of the gospel should preach work than it was during the war that he should urge subscriptions to Liberty Loans. From the beginning to the end of the Bible he will find texts almost innumerable on work. He can preach on work from every angle of human relation, and viewed in its widest aspect, he has an endless field for great sermons. He need not preach directly on the supreme duty of work in order to produce more coal, or more food, or more iron and steel, but he can preach on the dignity and the responsibility of work from the viewpoint of the teachings of God. He can preach on the supreme need of work—that a man shall work out his own salvation and that he must work if he would help to save others. He can preach on the doctrine of work. Man must work in order to make money to carry on the very ministry of the gospel and to maintain the church activities of the nation. He can emphasize with all the power at his command that the idle hand and the idle brain are the devil's best tools with which to do his work, and the devil is never idle. No one ever accused the devil of being lazy. No one ever denied that the devil is unceasingly at work, and man's work should counteract the power of the devil's work or the devil will win unto himself the individual man and all the influences which that man can control for the destruction of his own family and his own country.

The whole nation, indeed, the whole world, might for many months to come concentrate its thought, its teachings and its preachings upon work—work of brain and brawn, work as a divine command and a divine privilege, work as the only means through which the individual man, the church, the city, the State and civilization can be saved.

This is a great and tremendous work to which the country should address itself.

"Strange truths often find themselves into the public print. For instance, one of our newly rich women was flaunting her diamonds recently when a gentleman, between puffs, leisurely remarked that "dressing that woman up is like putting a gold harness on a mule."

To be sure, and there are men or rather things dressed like unto men that would remind the observer very much of the long-eared equine and the closer observer would have a dreamless vision of a "yaller" mongrel breed. All these kinds go to make up this world and without this variety and the other (the just as good), the refashioned would pass in and out of the world with the dressed sparkling diamonds that they are, completely enmeshed from vision. The student's sight broadens and deepens by contrast. We would have the male with its ugliness and the diamond with its brilliancy in order to see the shine.

"Man's bounden duty is everywhere and in all things to forward the progress of humanity. The supreme virtue is sacrifice—to think, work, fight, suffer, where our lot lies, not for ourselves, but others, for the victory of good over evil."

Manzi never penned a truer or more ennobling thought than this. Your life, if you would be a factor for the greatest good, cannot be our own. On this principle rests the basis structure of our government. The wars that have been waged and won have been for the defence of this principle. The world war was for the establishment of a Democratic form of government, this very idea, and now the League of Nations has for its aim the anchoring of nations by an imbreakable seal. It is up to our people to give approval for the worth accomplished through the sacrifices and life blood of our citizenship.

THANKING THE PUBLIC FOR THEIR GENEROUS PATRONAGE AND
HOPING TO SERVE THEM THE COMING YEAR

When the bids closed on the money, the 114 working churches secured her quota the deacons and many members on well shrank from it, and since each church of this denomination is a government of its own, the question of turning down this enormous quota was seriously considered, but the very fact that the church believed God was in the movement, that He was directing and the additional fact that under His leadership this body has never known failure, the church accepted the quota and with beseeching hearts and working hands, entered the campaign in faith and on Sunday night went over the top. See article in another column giving facts and figures.

The body of James Vansant sleeps beneath the soil of blood-purchased France. This noble son could not give more than his life. Father brave and heroic, heavy of heart is the support of the mother in the depths of sorrow, yet there is a thought so comforting, the son's life was given on a blood offering altar. Montgomery county will ever bear testimony through the life of this noble son, and by his death, as well, of his loyalty to the cause for which he had enlisted. May sunshine and cloudless skies succeed paternal sorrows and may all hearts be as one mighty motor pulsing in sympathy with the bereaved.

With this issue we pass the word on, Edwin P. Morrow is Governor of Kentucky. Of course the Governor knows he is not elected the leader of a party, but one who may under the constitution suggest measures to the legislatures which, when enacted, shall by their enforcement redound to the common good of all the people. In such efforts we shall not peer through partisan glasses with critic eyes, but will co-operate with him in all measures for the common good of the entire citizenship of Kentucky.

The people who love peace rather than war should encourage the President and the Senate in their efforts, to save them from the ravages of other wars.

FRANCE LAND FOR THE SCOTS

Men of the North Had Important Place There Even as Late as Nineteenth Century.

Until the eventual fixture of the Hanoverian line on the throne of Britain, there was always a company, at least, of Scots in the Royal Guard in France. When Louis IX made his fatal crusade in Egypt, a Scottish legion fought under the Bourbon standards. Likewise, in all the marches of Jeanne d'Arc there were Scottish volunteers. Scottish schools, academies, hospitals, convents and other institutions flourished in France for many years. Queen Marie, it is said, spent her last years in exile in one of the Scottish convents in Paris.

During these centuries, all France was a land of pilgrimage for the Scots. Trains of pilgrims were seen annually assembling at Saint Wand. Pious Scots also founded shrines at Meaux, Reims and in many secluded vales of Champagne. As late as 1810 manuscripts attest the presence of Scottish emigrants, whose names soon became confused with French forns.

It is said that one French king, despairing of the frivolity of his heir, said to him, "If thou should govern them badly, I would far rather that a Scot came to rule over them."

A TEMPORARY EXPEDIENT

"What shall we do to remedy the high cost of living?"
"I'll see if I can't get a job to assist in investigating it. Maybe the salary will be enough to help tide us over."

TREADMILL FOR MOUSE

More than a century ago a thrifty Scot, David Hutton, saw a pet mouse driving the wheel in its cage round and round. Hutton decided to try to harness this wasted power and make it do something useful. By experiments he found that a mouse would run about ten and one-half miles a day, and a half-penny worth of oatmeal would feed the little animal for 35 days, during which he would run 367 miles. He hit on the idea that, as the mouse turned the wheel, it should twist and reel sewing cotton, and he set about constructing a tiny tread-mill. Every day the mouse twisted and reeled from 100 to 120 threads, each 25 inches long.

SIX OF ONE.

A man, who was wanted by the police, had been photographed in six different positions, and the pictures sent to the chief of police of a provincial town, where it was thought likely the fugitive was in hiding. After the lapse of a few days the following reply reached headquarters: "Sir: I duly received the portraits of the six miscreants whose capture is desired. I arrested five of them, and the sixth is under observation and will be secured shortly."—Tit-Bits.

NO ALTRUIST.

"I want a perfectly noiseless lawn-mower."
"Considerate of the neighbors, eh?"
"It isn't that. If I can't get up early and cut grass without the neighbors hearing me, I'll have to lend that lawn-mower seven times before I get to use it again myself."

WHAT JACK NEEDED.

"Auntie, what would be an appropriate birthday present for Jack?"
"How long has he been calling on you, my dear?"
"Why—er—over a year now."
"Then," said her aunt, "you'd better give him a hint."

Driving and Wasting?

Or Hauling and Saving?

In olden times farmers and stock growers drove their stock to market on foot. The loss in shrinkage was from 5% to 8%, sometimes more.

Today, the up-to-date stock grower hauls his live stock to market in a 1 1/2 ton United States Farm Truck with United States type Farm Body.

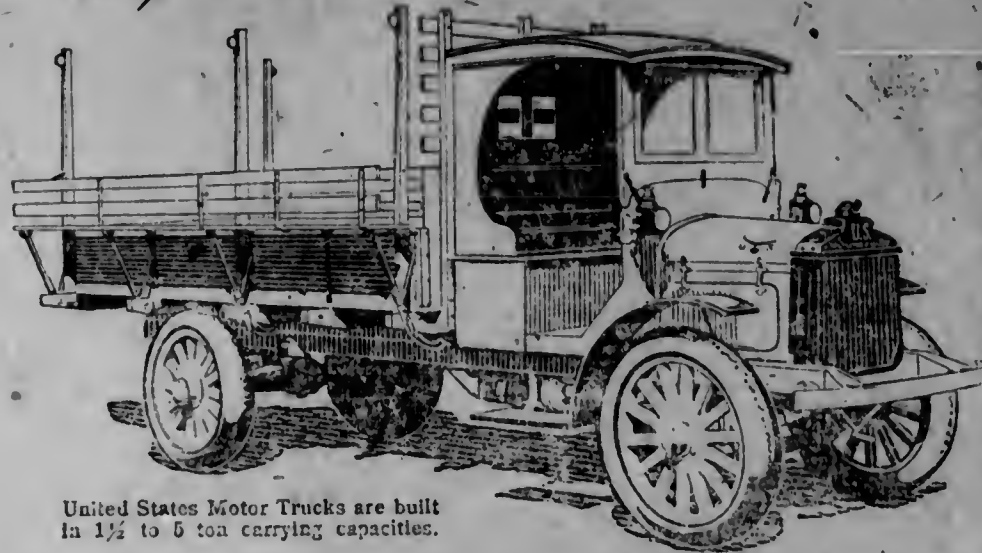

Modern farmers "beat the market" by getting to town earlier, with stock in better condition.

When the market rises and you want to get your stock to town over night, load them onto a United States Farm Truck. You can haul them 50 miles, almost before you know it. We can prove this.

Make us do it. Write for Illustrated Book. A postal will bring it. Of course we will demonstrate if you wish.

We build trucks from 1 1/2 to 5 tons. They helped Pershing Win. The Postoffice and Navy Departments use them. They are "Good enough for Uncle Sam." Are they good enough for you?

CONTRIBUTED
Letter Regarding Woman Suffrage
The belief that the individual voter should decide the question of woman suffrage is not in harmony with the extension of the franchise to groups of men; historical records show that from 1776 to 1821 twenty state conventions framed constitutions which dealt with suffrage and did not submit them to the electorate.
In the majority of states men became voters by action of legislative bodies and not by referendum. Maryland's first constitution was not submitted to the voters for acceptance or rejection; from 1789 to 1831 Congress gave the vote to men by legislative enactment, the individual man had no voice in the giving or withholding of the vote.
In some Southern States men became voters as a direct result of congressional interference in local affairs, yet the men of these states do not refuse to vote but they wish to subject women to the humiliation of a "voter to voter" canvass for the franchise. Legislative bodies confer the franchise in a dignified manner, but the voters of today desire that their mothers and wives shall be compelled to solicit the vote as a personal favor from the promiscuous voting constituency of every state.

HELP A WORTHY CAUSE
This is the last appeal in the press in the Nation-wide Campaign for money to push the work of the Episcopal church, in the Lexington Diocese, of which this parish is a part. The apportionments are calculated mathematically and with the exception of the Colored Mission, are proportioned to the amount of the annual expenditures upon itself of each parish or mission, taken in connection with its baptised membership. There is, therefore, entire impartiality and nothing arbitrary in the fixing of the parochial quotas. It has been announced from the national headquarters of the Nation-wide Campaign that what is received from the general church will be proportioned to what is contributed from here, to objects outside this diocese. The quotas present the share of each parish and mission in the apportionment for each of the three years laid upon this diocese by the national organization of the Nation-wide Campaign, for objects outside the Diocese, such as missions, religious education and social service. If the organization is able to grant all the Diocesan askings, this Diocese shall receive back as a Diocese from the general church several times as much as it is asked as a Diocese to give to objects outside the Diocese.
Margaret College is the Diocesan Institution at Versailles, Kentucky, for education of the Episcopal girls and has been so successful as to require aid to enable it to take advantage of its great opportunities. This Diocese has asked for $30,000 from the general church for the development of Margaret College, with the understanding that the Diocese would raise $5,000 for Margaret College each year for three years. Thus, at the end of the three-year period Margaret College will altogether have received $45,000, which will so enlarge and equip it as will enable it to accommodate its "waiting list" of pupils and make room for many others in addition.

There has been for many years a great disproportion between clerical salaries and the much higher wages of many day laborers. Especially within the last few years in view of the high cost of living, there has been a great inadequacy between these salaries and the manner in which the parishioners expect their clergymen to live. Therefore, there is a determination, especially on the part of the laymen to see that the average clerical salary is considerably increased. This Diocese asks from the general church, $3,323.97 for each of the three years for the increase of salaries within the Diocese that are below a certain figure. In return, it must raise as a Diocese for each of the three years, $774 for the same object within this Diocese.
The total asked in the Lexington Diocese every year for three years is:
To general budget, $18,935.01; Margaret College, $5,000.04; increase for clerical salaries, $774.05; total, $24,709.10.
Further information will be furnished by the local chairman, Miss Susette Johnson.
Why Mr. Joe Armstrong, Celebrated Dog Trainer, Uses Rat-Snap
"Noticed rats around my kennels, having hundreds of prize dogs could not take chances. Tried RAT-SNAP; in three weeks every rat disappeared. Noticed that the dogs never went near RAT-SNAP. Why you should use Cardui, the woman's tonic, for your troubles, have been shown in thousands of letters from actual users of this medicine, who speak from personal experience. If the results obtained by other women for so many years have been so uniformly good, why not give Cardui a trial?

"We must recognize and relieve our returned soldiers."
"America will not be daunted by threats from any class."
"The chemical and dyestuffs industry must be protected."

"Congress should arm the federal government with power to deal in its criminal courts with persons who by violent measures would abrogate our time-tested institutions."
"We should formulate a law requiring a federal license of all corporations engaged in interstate commerce."
"There are those in this country who threaten direct action to force their will upon a majority. It makes little difference what minority it is—whether capital or labor, or any other class—no sort of privilege will be permitted to dominate this country."

THOROUGHBREDS PROVE STRONGER

GREAT WAR TAUGHT IMPORT-ANCE OF BREEDING OF HORSES.

RACING ENCOURAGED ABROAD

Nations Who Bore Brunt of Conflict Maintained the Sport as Much as Possible as Matter of Sound Policy in Its Relation to National Defense.

At no time in the course of the last five years, not even while the great war was at its height, did the Central Empires stop the racing of thoroughbred horses. The great tracks at Hamburg, Buda Pest, Vienna and Berlin were the scenes of brilliant gatherings, even when the Grand Duke Nicholas was threatening East Prussia with invasion and Brusilov was on the edge of the plains of Hungary with his wild Cossack riders. At no time during the course of the great war were American and English trainers and jockeys, who had been caught by the declaration of war in Germany and Austria-Hungary and were unable to obtain passports, interned. They were permitted by governments their governments were seeking to destroy to pursue their accustomed callings unmolested and unrestrained.

To a certain extent racing was curtailed in Great Britain during the first two years of the great war. The use of the famous Epsom Downs course as a resting place for convalescing soldiers necessitated the running of the famous British Derby at Newmarket in 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917 and 1918. The preoccupation of the sportsmen of Great Britain in the business of war caused them, to a certain extent, to neglect the thoroughbred sales of 1915, 1916 and 1917, and Americans were enabled to slip in and buy up a lot of first-class stallions and mares with which to enrich the American thoroughbred industry.

France Alone Stops Racing.

Of the great nations participating in the great war, France alone felt the necessity of stopping horse racing. Threatened with utter destruction in a flood of Teutonic barbarism, France had to send to the fighting lines on the Marne, the Somme, the Aisne about Verdun, in the Vosges, every male Frenchman capable of bearing arms. Back of the fighting lines she had to mobilize the elderly men with the women and children for the imperative work of making munitions. Upon France alone fell the burden of resisting the German tide for upward of two years. Throughout the course of the war speed tests were held at the great French tracks, but not as public spectacles. But there was no letting down of the bars as regards the exportation from France of thoroughbred blood any time during the war. As a special consideration citizens of the United States, a country from which the French, from the very beginning of the war, were drawing enormous quantities of military material, who had thoroughbred studs in France, such men as John Sanford, of Amsterdam, Major August Belmont, Joseph E. Widener and Thomas P. Thorne, were permitted, when transportation was available, to ship to the United States a limited number of thoroughbred yearlings. No mottored thoroughbred stallions or mares were allowed to leave the country, whether their owners were Frenchmen or outsiders.

With the signing of the armistice France and England resumed racing with characteristic enthusiasm. The attendance at the race tracks about Paris has been greater this season than in any for the period of half a dozen years preceding the outbreak of the great war. The crowds that witnessed the running of the Derby, the Oaks, the Ascot Gold Cup, the Leger, etc., in Great Britain, were greater by the thousands than the greatest of ante-bellum race track gatherings.

Sport Encouraged in Europe.

In France and Great Britain the patronage of horse racing, by the public, has the highest government encouragement now as the support of racing had in Germany and Austria-Hungary even through the dark months when human beings were finding it difficult to obtain nourishing food. France and England recognize today as Germany and Austria-Hungary have for many days the indispensibility of thoroughbred blood to national defense and necessity of thoroughbred horse racing for the maintenance at its highest efficiency of thoroughbred blood.

For upward of seventy years previous to the beginning of the great war the military governments of continental Europe had been maintaining thoroughbred studs for the production of military horses. In earlier century of experimentation having demonstrated to the satisfaction of experts that it was the horse that boasted of the greatest proportion of thoroughbred blood that showed the highest efficiency in military service, whether as a trooper's mount, an artillery horse or a part of the transport service. The great war had not progressed two years before British and French officials had reached the conclusion that the only way to win the war was to have the best horses.

that of the thoroughbred blood was to be of the half bred 17, of the cross 14 and of the lesser breeds of horses of no particular breed 5 to 7.

English Learn Their Lesson.

Previous to the war of the nations the British government had left the production of horses for the army to private enterprise. The British had merely mulled along, as is their habit in most things. The difficulty the war office experienced in equipping with suitable horses the cavalry, transport and artillery services of the tremendous armies that were being assembled in France in 1916 and 1917, under Haig, convinced the rulers of the British Empire that the old haphazard scheme would not answer in future. The British Parliament was therefore constrained to accept the 1917 Major Hall Walker's generous offer of his entire thoroughbred stud as the nucleus of a great Imperial Military Horse Breeding establishment and to employ Lord Lonsdale to manage and race the produce of that establishment on the tracks of Great Britain for purposes of elimination as the Imperial German government had employed various scions of German royalty to race the produce of the national studs of Graditz and Trecken for thirty-five or forty years before the outbreak of the great war.

The munificence of Major Walker's stud, which was a nucleus of several of the best blood in the world, was a great help to the British war effort. The British government had been maintaining this Imperial Horse Breeding establishment after the manner such establishments had been maintained in France, Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy for half a century before the German invasion of Belgium. To promote the quick production of quantities of horses of thoroughbred, three-quarterbred and half-bred types, this establishment is preparing to give direct support to the Canadian National Bureau of Breeding, which was established some seven or eight years prior to 1914, and which supplied the Canadian and British forces with thousands of splendid half-breds, and to create subsidiary branches in Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and India.—Advt.

Although the announcement issued by Administrator Garfield did not make it clear, it was presumed that the restrictions would not be enforced for industries and business places which have sufficient coal on hand. When the first rationing measures were taken Dr. Garfield said that limitations would not be placed on consumers having a sufficient supply of coal. Accordingly the restrictions will be applied only to the designated consumers dependent on the Railroad Administration distributory system for their supply.

NEW GARAGE

Announcement to Auto Owners

W. A. Triplett, proprietor of the Auto Repair Station, and E. P. Thors, Mt. Sterling's pioneer garage men and mechanics, have formed a partnership and leased the new garage building being built by Mr. Tom Thomas, and will do a regular garage business, making the service or repair departments the main part of the business.

Until this building is completed temporary quarters will be at the garage formerly occupied by H. H. Copping on Locust street. They have contracted for a number of good things for the motorist, which will mean real service at less cost, some of which are Portage Tires, an honest Tire, on which we make adjustments. "Service" spare parts for all ignition systems, Rayfield carburetors and service, replacements for all carburetors, any model battery service, repair parts and inspection. Oxy-acetylene welding, saves many a part. We are agents for no cars and will therefore give as good service to one car as another—no favorites. Storage cars will be given private stalls and no other car allowed in that stall, therefore it will be necessary to limit the number of storage cars, so make reservations early.

HIGH COST OF LIVING

To Be Thoroughly Investigated in Kentucky By Department of Justice

At a meeting of the Kentucky High Cost of Living Commission held in Louisville, Col. P. H. Callahan, of that city, was elected chairman.

Furthermore, it was announced that the Department of Justice had taken over this commission and its full personnel, asking it to be the governmental agency to carry out the spirit and letter of the law as outlined in the recent extension of the Lever Act, which provides for fine and imprisonment of anyone guilty of profiteering in any of the essentials of food, fuel and clothing, and the commission has now agreed upon an extended program to effect an organization throughout the State realizing that the present high cost of living is one of the most disturbing elements existing in American life today.

Since the commission is now under the direction of the federal government with the full strength of the Department of Justice behind it, anyone found profiteering in the essentials of life may expect to be summarily dealt with. A fair price commission has been organized, whose duty it is to fix a fair price, on all necessary commodities, and as soon as these prices are completed, anyone found charging a higher price will be promptly proceeded against through the U. S. District Attorney's office.

However, it is absolutely necessary that the public patriotically do their part in this work by promptly reporting to the High Cost of Living Commission at Louisville, Ky., all cases where apparent overcharge has been made, for the field of investigation is so very large that the committee's investigation can personally locate only a small percentage of the offenders, therefore, it is the purpose of this body to enlist the co-operation of all business, civic, religious and welfare associations, but more especially the citizens themselves in an effort to remedy the present condition.

A most aggressive plan of campaign was outlined with District Attorneys Gregory and Slattery, of the United States Court present, who are to give their full co-operation and assistance and the public now has the assurance that any case of overcharge reported will have their prompt attention, but in sending in these reports, it is absolutely necessary in order to make proper investigation that the detailed information be given as to the price paid for the article itself, date of purchase, and name of dealer, over the signature of the purchaser.

The efforts of the commission so far have been largely confined to the city of Louisville, where it has succeeded in bringing about considerable benefits and it is now our purpose to extend the usefulness of this commission to all parts of the State, and anyone anywhere should write the High Cost of Living Commission, Louisville, Ky., if they have been overcharged, or if they know of any overcharging prevailing.

OLD PROBLEM FOR NEW GOVERNOR

Morrow Will Find Problem of Downing Tuberculosis Most Important To Commonwealth

With a new Governor in charge of affairs in Kentucky this week he will find there is one old problem left over from former administrations with which he will have to wrestle, if Kentucky is to take her place in the forefront of American Commonwealths, where she belongs. That is the century-old problem of stopping the ravages of tuberculosis, the white plague, which last year took a toll of 4,600 lives in Kentucky, entailing an economic loss of millions of dollars.

Edwin P. Morrow enters upon the duties of his office with opportunities that have been vouchsafed to but few Governors of old Kentucky. The State debt and its handling, the economy of administration he has promised and which the State must practice to get a business basis, the elimination of every office for which there is not a positive need—all these must be met by the able and ambitious young executive the people have chosen as their Governor, aided by a legislature which will be very much inclined to follow his lead in any matter for the betterment of the State, though the Senate is not controlled by his party. It is said, however, that it will not hamper Mr. Morrow in the carrying out of any constructive policy, but, on the other hand, will co-operate with him in his avowed purpose of placing Kentucky in a foremost position among the States.

The public health problem is one of the most important the new administration will face. Kentucky has some good health laws, enacted by the votes of Democrats and Republicans, which have done much within the past few years to lessen the ravages of tuberculosis, which medical experience has demonstrated to be not only a curable, but a preventable disease. The people are aiding at this time in raising a fund of $130,000, with which to back up the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association in an educational campaign to prevent the spread of the disease from the 30,000 now afflicted with it in Kentucky to their families and others. This fund is being raised by the sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals, which cost a cent apiece and which are used to stamp packages, gifts and letters during the holiday season. All who are interested in ridding Kentucky of the plague ought to buy these stamps liberally. A few cents from some and a few dollars from others and the problem is solved.

ARE MIDWINTER BABIES BEST?

Some Important Exceptions to the Findings of Two Italian Scientists.

A couple of Italian scientists have figured out that most brainy people are born in the first three months of the year.

Thirteen American presidents came into the world in the first four months. They include Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Lincoln, Grant, Cleveland and McKinley.

But Woodrow Wilson came within three days of being born on the very last day of the year. Roosevelt was an October baby and Taft a September.

Clemenceau was also a September baby, but Lloyd George, England's war premier, arrived in January.

Some years ago Frenchmen voted Louis Pasteur the greatest man that country had ever produced and Napoleon Bonaparte second.

The former was born in December and the latter in August. So there are plenty of brilliant exceptions to that Italian rule that mid-winter babies have a mortgage on brains.

TRAP BEARS TO SAVE CATTLE

Forest Rangers of Government Perform Valuable Services for Stockmen.

In four years' time forest rangers have killed 60,473 coyotes, 8,094 bobcats, 1,829 wolves, 201 mountain lions and 137 bears. The government receives a neat little sum for these pelts. For one year's kill this amounted to $100,000.

Let us see what damage a predatory animal can do. Take the case of one Wyoming stockman. Last May two male wolves visited the ranch and got away with 100 head of sheep and 7 colts. They then turned their attention to the neighbor and destroyed for him 50 sheep. A ranger hunter ran down the marauding animals and killed them. Here are the government statistics of the annual depredations among cattle and sheep by a single predatory animal: Wolf, $1,000; stock-killing grizzly bear, $500; mountain lion, $500; bobcat, $50; coyote, $50.

SHIP HAS HISTORY.

A prime favorite of the traveling public of the last generation is shortly to disappear when the condemned United States transport Hancock is sold to the shipbreakers. For before she hoisted the Stars and Stripes in 1898 she was the Gulon liner Arizona, famous both as a record-breaker and from the fact that as a new ship she rammed an iceberg at nearly full speed, telescoped her bow for a considerable length and yet managed to bring her passengers safely into St. John's.—London Globe.

BUILT OF CONCRETE.

Owing to the high price and scarcity of steel during the war, a gas company in Syracuse found it necessary to build the shells of a 200-horse power gas producer and scrubber out of concrete staves. The shells are eight feet in diameter and the staves measure 24 by 10 by 2 1/2 inches. They are connected by tongue and groove joints. Between the concrete and the fire brick lining there is a three-inch space filled with a heat-resisting material.

STITHTON LEADS IN RACE

This little town of Stithton, Har-din county, Kentucky, is worth more than mere passing attention. When it is considered that there are but 11 families in Stithton now, and that these 11 families have already absorbed $9,000 worth of Treasury Savings Certificates, one can have somewhat of an idea of the confidence the citizens of Stithton have in the United States government.

Jesse B. Wise is the postmaster of Stithton. It was through Postmaster Wise that these purchases of certificates were made. Mr. Wise has won his distinguished service pin to be issued by the Treasury Department, savings division, three times over and he says he is not through yet.

In a letter this week, ordering more certificates, Mr. Wise says:

"I wish it to be understood that to the citizens of Stithton, and not to me, belongs the honor for the good showing of this office. This town went over the top in every drive during the war. It had about 500 inhabitants when war was declared, but there are only 25 of the old inhabitants left, or 11 families. I have canvassed no one outside of these eleven families in Stithton. They are all true blue and 100 per cent. Americans, regardless of the fact that their little town was destroyed and taken over by the War Department and converted into Camp Knox. The money that they received for their homes they are now willing to put into government bonds. They have absolute confidence in the United States government."

In the contest among the postmasters for the award of the distinguished service pins Postmaster Wise leads with a greater per cent. of Treasury Certificates sold over and above his quota than any other postmaster in the Eighth Federal Reserve District, embracing the states of Missouri, Arkansas and Kentucky.

Of all the plagues that have afflicted the world none is more deadly than tuberculosis, or the "Great White Plague." Other plagues, ancient and modern, have swept countries and communities, and struck down victims for a few weeks or months, and were gone. Tuberculosis has kept up its ravages. In the United States tuberculosis kills 150,000 persons every year. One person dies every three minutes. There are at least 1,000,000 active cases in the United States. One-tenth of all the people who die in the United States are victims of T. B. It takes its greatest toll between the ages of 15 and twenty-five years. Tuberculosis menaces every community. The economic loss to the nation amounts to $500,000,000 each year. It can be controlled by systematic, ceaseless effort. The National Tuberculosis Association, with its 1,000 affiliated State and local organizations, are waging a continuous war on the disease. They are financed chiefly by the sale of the Red Cross Christmas Seals. Community work is absolutely essential and necessary in the progress of this campaign. This is the "home town's" chance. The local Health and Welfare League has the sale of the Xmas Seals, and Miss Ethel Baker, of this city, has been appointed county chairman by the State Tuberculosis Association. The League gets 65 per cent. of the money realized from the sale of the Seals, which is used at home in the fight on the disease. Thirty-five per cent. of the money realized goes for the State work in the fight. Buy some Seals for your Xmas packages, or better still, a Health Bond, which costs from $5 to $100, and each purchaser of a bond will be given all the seals desired. The Seals will be on sale at several convenient places this week.

HE WAS FORTUNATE.

He recently returned from France and one of his arms is missing. He is very sensitive about any mention of that loss, particularly so since it doesn't interfere with his work. But two young men, not nearly so efficient as he is, who are employed in the same office, insist on talking about his loss. The other day one of them began: "I'll tell you it is tough to lose an arm in a war for millionaires. Now—"

"Now," interrupted the young hero testily, "I want to tell you it's a lot better to be crippled in war than by nature."

And there was absolute silence in that office.

DESERVES A BETTER FATE.

A Cape Town (South Africa) paper tells of a baboon mascot which had been wounded in the trenches, and which appeared among the returning troops dressed in khaki coat and hat, with a lance corporal's stripe, wound stripe and good conduct ribbon. His left hind leg had been left in France. The friend who sends us the clipping, says "Our Dumb Animals," wonders what is to become of this unfortunate creature. There is a fear that some traveling show will buy him for exhibition. This would be a sad reward for the experiences through which he has come.

NOT USED TO THE GAME.

"You could have heard a pin drop while the leading man held the leading lady in passionate embrace."

"Well?"

"That's why I lost patience when the musical director spoiled the scene by dropping his baton to the floor."

"Bear with the poor man. I happen to know that the leading lady is his wife and he hasn't been married to her long enough to view such scenes with professional indifference."

A DRAWBACK.

"They say Maud's second husband has $10,000 a year. How contented she must be."

"She isn't, though, exactly. A man of that grade doesn't hand his wife his pay envelopes, you know."

GERMANY MUST SIGN OR ALLIES WILL USE FORCE

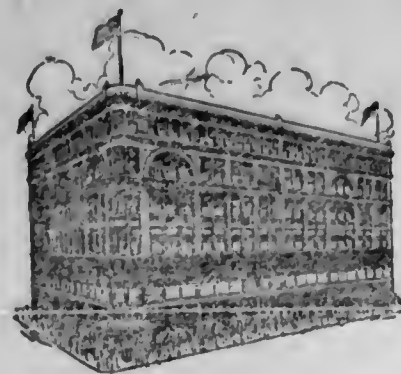

In a note drafted by the Supreme Council it is demanded that Germany sign the protocol providing for the carrying out of the peace terms, failing which the Allies, it is set forth, will be obliged to have recourse to military measures.

Baron von Lersner's communication, which was received by Premier Clemenceau Thursday, declared they were mis-informed regarding their complaint that Germany was exceeding by far the limit of military forces permitted under the treaty. Von Lersner declared that the German government had never sought to conceal the fact that the creation of detective police forces and civic guards would be necessary, and that the German government was prepared to submit proofs to General Nollet, head of the Entente Commission of control in Berlin, that these organizations were permissible.

THE "SOAPY SMITH" PLAN

Before an earnest gent with an irritable and active gat bumped him off on the beach at Hone, Alaska, Soapy Smith was the best known grafter in the United States. He had many a trick up his sleeves, but the one which gave him his name and his start was wrapping up a piece of soap with a twenty-dollar bill and selling it to the unwary for two dollars.

When the package was opened there was no twenty-dollar bill and even the soap would not lather. Soapy could talk a bird off a tree. He had the fingers of a Mississippi River card sharp and could and would fight like a wild cat.

But what Soapy pulled was a pink tea compared to what his successors are getting away with right now. There are thousands of grafting promoters who are taking a little soft soap, in the form of a promise of sure profits, wrapping it in a pretty stock certificate with pictures of mines or oil wells in the corners and selling it, not for two dollars, but for hundreds and thousands.

When the package is unwrapped the promise is valueless, the oil wells won't flow, the mines won't produce and the banana plantation won't bear.

Soapy Smith took a chance in the crowds. If an indignant purchaser wanted to beat him up, Soapy took him on. But the only chance the stock grafter takes is from the postal authorities and from writers' cramp.

You have the same prospects of winning from the men who try and induce you to trade Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps for wild cat stocks that the street crowds had to get Soapy's twenty-dollar bill. Most of the promoters would not know an oil well or a mine if they met one on the street.

But they know how to frame promises, rosy ones. That is what you buy when you invest with them, a promise—and usually one that has no chance to be realized.

Purchase of such stocks is not an investment; it's a gift to the grafter. If you are seeking investment, put your money into Liberty Bonds, War Savings Stamps and Savings Certificates. When you buy that kind of a package you get what you pay for, not what you see wrapped up.

EIGHTH DISTRICT AMONG THE LEADERS

Official figures compiled at Washington reveal that the Eighth Federal Reserve District and Missouri, in particular, made a wonderful record in the sale of United States Treasury Savings Certificates in October.

The sales in the States of Missouri have climbed consistently every month since May. In the month of June, Missouri was in seventeenth place for per capita sales. In the month of October, Missouri stands first in all the states of the Union for per capita sales. The state of Missouri stands third in the Union for volume of sales. New York City and New York State combined hold first place; Ohio second place, and Missouri, third.

Kentucky and the District of Columbia are tied for second place in per capita sales for October. The District of Columbia being considered only as a city, gives Kentucky second place among the States of the Union in per capita sales. Kentucky stands in fifth place among all the states in gross volume of sales, being exceeded by New York in first place, Ohio in second place, Missouri in third place, Illinois in fourth place and Kentucky in fifth place.

Arkansas, on account of very adverse conditions, did not make an exceptional showing in October. In per capita sales she stood nineteenth in the states and eighteenth in volume of sales.

PHOSPHATE IN FEN LANDS

Discovery Made During the War Was of Immense Value to Britain—Substance Urgently Needed.

The war was responsible for the discovery of a positive Eldorado of phosphates in England, located in the fen land of East Anglia. The value of this mineral was quoted at $450 a ton during the war, and the value was greatly enhanced, due to the fact that it was practically unobtainable in England. There was an urgent demand for it to be used in the manufacture of high explosive shells. Then it was that scientists turned to the fen lands, which had at one time been a popular playground of the lumbering ichthyocarian mammoths, and they discovered a fossil bed of chalk covering thousands of acres. The site of the beds is at Trumpington, near Lambridge, and soon after the discovery a village of wooden huts was erected and the most modern machinery was installed to produce the mineral. Huge furrows were driven across the land 20 to 30 feet deep, until a fossil bed was located, and when a furrow was worked out it was covered up and another dug. In this way, after 16 months' work the fossil beds produced thousands of tons of fossil phosphates at a cost of from $40 to $50 a ton. With the end of the war the exploitation of the fossil beds, believed to be the largest in Europe, was discontinued.

DICKENS' RELICS IN DEMAND

"Grip," the Raven, Sold for $600, While Sundial and Column Fetched More Than $500.

I notice that "Grip," the raven immortalized by Dickens in "Barnaby Rudge," is to be sold by auction. It is more than thirty years since it was previously sold under the hammer, and in that period Dickens' relics have appreciated in value, so that the bird may fetch more than the £120 for which the late Alderman Nottage obtained it.

It is astonishing to anyone who is not a Dickensian, to note the prices paid for mementoes of the novelist. Here are a few:

An old sundial and column, formed of one of the balusters of old Rochester bridge, and used by Dickens in his garden, once fetched fifty guineas; "Boz's" writing slope, the intrinsic value of which was perhaps five shillings, brought 100 guineas at a sale, and at another auction the table, chair and looking glass used by him while editing "All the Year Round," brought £85. No less than £95 was once paid for the petty cash book which he kept when he was a boy of sixteen in a lawyer's office.—Westminster Gazette.

PREHISTORIC ESKIMO VILLAGE.

A whole village of Eskimos of a prehistoric tribe, buried in the everlasting ice of latitude 75 degrees, has been discovered by a scientist who, for almost two years, has been excavating in the vicinity of Barrow Point, on the north shore of Alaska. The bodies of 80 inhabitants of the ancient settlement were unearthed, and several have been sent to the museum of an Eastern university. That the period of their life corresponded with the "stone age" is demonstrated by the shape of their heads.—Popular Mechanics.

DANGEROUS FINGER RING.

According to the Seattle representative of the shipping board, finger rings constitute a fruitful source of accidents to shipyard workers. "If you wish to avoid accidents," says this authority, "leave them off when you go to work. Within the last 30 days two men have lost fingers as a result of accidents for which their rings were responsible, and more than 20 less serious mishaps have been reported which were due to the same cause.—Scientific American.

THAT WAS FATAL.

"I once thought I was going to marry that girl."
"What happened?"
"My proposal fizzled."
"Why?"
"She asked for time to think."

NEW TRANSPORTATION IDEA.

An English company plans to transport merchandise through a hydraulic tube, something like the pneumatic tube, except that the carriers are moved along with a stream of water.

The Mistletoe Kiss

By J. L. SHERWIN

(Copyright.)

HERE never was such a doll. It was the very acme of toy invention, classic of features, graceful of form, appareled in materials duplications of the latest modes of fashion. Flexible of joints, some inner mechanism moved eyes and lips, and then it talked—talked? Bless you! yes, in the clearest childish accents. No wonder it did all these things, for, when Warren Brill asked the price, the salesman replied:

"Seventy-five dollars, sir."

"When?" aspirated Roy Burton, who had accompanied Brill on his Christmas shopping tour.

"I'll take it," said the latter.

"Why, you've gone clear daffy," remonstrated Burton. "You've got no little ones at home."

"N-no, that's so," replied Warren in his diffident, hesitating way, "but, you see," and he grew flustered—"Miss Deere—"

"Eh! Nellie Deere? Surely you're not thinking of giving that grown up beauty a doll?"

"Oh, dear no!" answered Brill, and he flattered like a frightened schoolboy. "I wouldn't dare to offer her a gift. I was thinking of presenting the doll to her little niece, Dorothy. I hope Miss Deere won't resent my taking such a liberty. Of course we're quite friendly—"

"Friendly?" interrupted Burton. "That's putting it mildly. Why, everybody knows you're in love with Nellie, and the way she favors your company shows how she regards you."

"Oh, do you think so, positively?" gasped Warren. His face was a vast map of longing hope. "You don't know how—how happy you make me. Just put the doll aside," to the salesman. "I shall want some special records made and I'll see you later."

"It's a bold scheme," soliloquized Warren, and proceeded straight back to the toy store. He sought out the salesman. "Now, as I understand it," he said, "a regular baby phonograph device inside the doll makes it say all those cute things, when you operate a button?"

"That's it," acceded the clerk.

"And I can have a special record made?"

"Surely. We can attend to that for you."

Warren met Nellie on the street the day before Christmas, and she mentioned the fact that she had been very much disappointed as to the Christmas tree they had received, it being straggly and undersized.

"Why," spoke Warren eagerly, "I saw the finest layout of trees down at Chester only yesterday. Miss Deere, I haven't a thing to do the rest of the day. Won't you deputize me to help give the little ones a good time?"

Warren arrived at the Deere home with the tree and various packages. He helped Nellie trim the tree. He operated the talking doll to even the wonderment of Mr. and Mrs. Deere, who at ten o'clock indulgently retired.

Warren began to act nervous. He had placed a new record specially by his side, his finger on the button. Nellie was looping a string made to order inside the doll. He set it on a chair of holly near the folding doors. She looked at him strangely as he said:

"Miss Deere—Nellie, I have something to say to you—that is—yes—something to tell you, and can't say it. Won't you please listen to what my little friend here, the doll, will say for me, and then maybe—maybe you'll say something, too."

"Dear Nellie, I love you. I know that you are a star high above me, and the best man in the world unworthy of you; but I can give you every luxury and add the greatest one of all—love. Say it's not altogether hopeless."

Nellie blushed peony red. Then she smiled slightly, almost quizzically. She moved four steps. They brought her directly under the mistletoe. Warren arose to his feet.

"Oh, Nellie!" he cried, "you—you didn't get under that mistletoe on purpose?"

She hung her head embarrassed, yet inviting. He stole to her, brave as a lion. He circled her waist with his arm. She snuggled closer; he pressed his lips to hers.

"Oh, a merry Christmas to all the world," he jubilated expansively, and in the accents there was the cheer of a happy, happy man.

PRODUCE REVIEW

Poultry receipts slackened up immediately after Thanksgiving, but the movement last week was normal, and it is expected that it will be fully sufficient to take care of the holiday trade.

The interest chiefly centers on turkeys which are now being prepared for shipment to large eastern markets. They should arrive at seaboard points not later than December 20th, and in view of the transportation situation turkeys should move from the farm earlier than usual. The bulk of the turkeys should be in cars and on the way not later than December 11th.

Receipts of fresh eggs are smaller than current trade requirements. Prices are higher, but it should be noted that only close selections bring top prices.

Storage eggs are moving satisfactorily, although there is still a larger reserve in storage than a year ago.

The amount of cream delivered to creameries the past week has shown further reduction, but there has been no particular change in the market. Demand in the larger consuming centers is reported to be smaller, and if this tendency continues it will probably result in lower prices.

Victim of Halloween Prank Commented Somewhat Bitterly on the Doings of the Elves.

She was standing in her back yard on the morning after Halloween. Like many of her neighbors in Woodruff place, she is a lover of flowers, spending much time in her garden among her floral pets. Just now she was surveying the wreckage of a long rose arbor, built last summer, under her personal direction and especially designed to develop and exhibit the beauties of some favorite climbers. The ruin was complete, arbor torn down, rose bushes uprooted, garden trampled, the hope of beauty for next summer but a memory.

A neighbor across the alley called out: "Well, Mrs. Roselover, the Halloweeners treated your garden a little rough." "Yes," she replied. "I suppose they called it fun, but I hardly know how to classify that kind of fun. Perhaps it is of the same old aboriginal brand in which the painted savages indulged when they tied their victim to the stake, built a slow fire under him, and then howled in glee at his sufferings. At least, right now I feel very much like the victim at the stake."—Indianapolis News.

NO WARS AMONG CHILDREN

Youngsters of Various Nationalities Play Peaceably Together in Public Grounds in Lithuanian Town.

Whatever may be the differences that keep their parents apart, little Lithuanians, Russians, Jews and Poles are playing happily together in Kovno, Lithuania, in the public playground and garden established by the American relief administration European children's fund, according to word received at the organization's New York headquarters, 115 Broadway.

Early in the morning 250 children gather in the playground and remain until six at night. The younger ones play all day and are provided with nourishing food by the administration. The older ones work in the garden.

The greater part of the garden work has been done in the morning. At first the poor underfed children could not do very much, for they did not have the strength, but after a few weeks in the open air, with proper food, a marked improvement was observed.

All activities are under the supervision of a matron and some women helpers. The children get but one meal a day, as the number of needy is too great to permit of more.

DISCRIMINATION.

I believe in peace at any price. So do I, but I have a lingering suspicion that it's better to be the one who fixes the price than the one who pays it.

SEARCH RIVER IN DIVING BELLS.

Forming the bottom of the deep pools along the Vaal river in southern Africa are virgin diamond beds which will shortly be the scene of unusual mining operations. A shallow-draft boat, anchored on the surface of such a pool, will lower to the bottom a diving bell, 15 feet in diameter, in which will labor several native workers. These will shovel the gravel into the mouth of a compressed-air hoist. By this means it will ascend to the deck, on which will be found the usual equipment of bins, revolving sieves and sorting tables, in addition to the rollers and engines.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

IS EVERY ONE PARADING?

Silk hats are in tremendous demand in Europe. The output cannot keep up with orders, even with retired workmen recalled to their benches. It is perfectly obvious that the peace conference, when it set about creating new countries forgot to notify the supreme economic council of the resulting strain that would be placed upon the silk hat industry.—Nation's Business.

MISS SPURLING SCORES

Higbee, Mo., in Randolph county, made a splendid record in November in the purchase of the securities offered by the Treasury Department, savings division.

Miss May W. Spurling is postmaster at Higbee, and she will have the honor of wearing one of the Distinguished Service Pins offered by the Treasury Department for selling between November 3 and December 6 the quota of Treasury Savings Certificates allotted to postoffices of the class over which she presides.

Higbee has a population of a little more than 1,200, according to the latest official census figures. Miss Spurling sold during November Treasury Savings Certificates of a maturity value of $3,000, which wins for the honor of the award, and she went far and beyond the call for duty by selling War Savings Stamps during the same time to the value of $4,000.

Miss Spurling, in making her remittance to the Federal Reserve Bank, modestly speaks of her achievement, and says she "will try and do better this month."

THEFT OF LIBERTY BONDS

Under the caption "Theft of Liberty Bonds," the Southwest American, of Fort Smith, Arkansas, in a recent issue printed the following editorial, which seems with common sense and good advice:

"The theft of Liberty Bonds is becoming so frequent that owners of such bonds should have them registered. In that event, their loss by theft or fire is not fatal; they can be replaced. Where they are registered no one but the owner can collect the interest; they are not of value to anyone else than to him, in whose name they are recorded.

Any banker will attend to having Liberty Bonds registered. They will be sent to Washington, duly recorded, and returned; or rather, a registered bond for the amount will be returned. After that the interest will be paid by check from the Treasury of the United States.

If, after the bonds have been registered one desires to dispose of them, he may do so by legal process. All that is necessary is to give the purchaser proper credentials, that the Treasury Department may change the registration.

And now that the theft of the bonds is becoming so frequent there will likely be many of these stolen bonds offered for sale. No one should buy a bond from a stranger. If its identity can be established, as is often the case, the bond can be taken away from the holder if it has been stolen from its rightful owner. When the coupons are presented the bond is likely to be traced; that is, where a theft is reported and the number of the bond known and given to the Treasury, the interest coupon will prove a means of running down and identifying the bond thief. The Liberty Bonds are the best and safest security in the world, but one ought to know from whom he is buying them, and he ought to have them recorded as soon as he does buy them."

In the Southwest American's editorial only one thing is not made so clear as it should be. The interest on the bonds, when they are registered, is sent by check from Washington by the Treasury Department and is made payable to the owner of record. Should the bonds be sold, the new owner, for his protection, should have his banker forward the bonds to Washington for new registration, else the interest will continue to be sent to the original owner.

THIS YEAR'S XMAS GIFT

This year there is going to be more sensible Christmas gifts bestowed and fewer of those useless gifts that persons give simply because they felt they ought to be giving something. The children in the schools are responsible for this in a great measure. They have been taught the value of saving, and in doing so have learned the value of War Savings Stamps and Thrift Stamps. For the vast volume of petty gifts, little jimmies, and the like, the Thrift Stamp is going to take its place, while there will be War Savings Stamps for a more substantial present, while the still more pretentious present will be the Treasury Savings Certificate that is sold by the United States Treasury Department in denominations of $100 and $1,000.

AGAIN MOTHER GOOSE

One little penny found en route to school,
Two little pennies for keeping every rule;
Three little pennies for lessons nightly learned,
Four little pennies—then a nickel earned.
Two more nickels for cleaning up the yard,
Fifteen cents earned for working hard;
Shoveled coal to earn a dime, and then the little scamp
Ran to the postoffice and bought himself a Thrift Stamp.

SWEEPING CHANGE IN SCHOOL RULES

The program for legislation for the improvement in the public schools of Kentucky before the coming legislature was decided at a conference between George E. Colvin, just elected State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the 120 county school superintendents of the State in session at Louisville last week, with a committee of the Kentucky Education Association.

It provides for:

First—A school survey by experts at a cost of $10,000.

Second—Submission of a constitutional amendment to make the superintendent of instruction an appointive office—to take the office out of politics.

Third—Election of all county boards of education from the county-at-large instead of districts; giving county boards the power to select county school superintendents; giving boards and superintendents power to name and dismiss teachers; giving boards power to fix school tax.

Fourth—Making the State Superintendent responsible for all examinations for teachers' certificates.

Fifth—Giving the State Superintendent power to standardize all new school buildings.

Sixth—Making a minimum levy for schools of 50 cents instead of 30 cents; minimum salary for county school superintendents $1,600, and minimum for emergency teachers, $450.

A hustler never knows what time it is.

'NOT ONE CENT' SHALL BE ADDED TO COAL PRICE

All bituminous coal mines now in operation must close within a week unless the railroad administration pays for the coal it has confiscated or diverted, said a statement by the American wholesale association on Saturday.

Not one cent can be added to the price of coal to finance any increases in the wages of miners, Fuel Administrator Garfield declared after reading press dispatches that Governor Cox, of Ohio, had proposed that miners and operators in that State compromise on the basis of a 25 per cent advance in pay for the men.

Dr. Garfield indicated that the government would interpose no objection if the increase could be given without advancing coal prices. "There will be no increase in the present price of coal as fixed under the Lever act," Dr. Garfield said, "no matter what local arrangements and agreements are put into effect." He added that his position was absolutely unchanged from that taken on Nov. 26, with the authorization of the cabinet. Dr. Garfield explained then, in suggesting the 14 per cent advance, which the miners promptly rejected, that he was not fixing wage scales, and had no authority to do so. He indicated that the increase suggested was merely that which the operators were able to grant without advancing the price of coal which the government has fixed.

FURTHER MODIFICATION OF FUEL RESTRICTIONS

Modifications of the fuel and light restrictions, stating that stores open after hours fixed by regulations may use oil lamps, candles, gasoline or other means of lighting in which coal, wood or gas are not used, were received Friday from W. L. Mapother, Federal Manager of the Railway, in charge of fuel restrictions in Kentucky, who received it from the regional coal committee at Atlanta. The order, which includes other modifications as well, follows:

"Louisville, Ky., Dec. 5, 1919.

"To Officers and Agents:

"The following modifications and interpretations of the fuel restrictions have been issued under date of Sunday:

First—Wholesale and manufacturing druggists, manufacturing opticians, grinding to prescription, and wholesale manufacturing and retail surgical instrument and dental houses are considered as having the same exemption as provided for drug stores.

2nd—All restrictions placed upon the use of coal apply to the use of coke.

3rd—To prevent any possibility of misunderstanding, the committee states the plants, stores and offices open outside of hours fixed by the regulations may use oil lamps, candles, gasoline or other means of lighting or heating in the production of which coal, gas or wood are not used.

4th—Soft drink, candy, tobacco, fruit and periodical stands, located in drug stores, hotels, restaurants, railroad stations, pool rooms, bowling alleys or other places, which are exempted from closing regulations, or for which special hours are fixed, may do business at any time, provided no additional light, heat or power produced by wood, coal or gas, is used for the purpose outside of hours prescribed.

5th—Stores exempted, or for which special hours are provided, may at any time sell any goods in their stock, provided no lights are thereby required in addition to those used for the sale of food, drugs or other things covered by exemptions.

6th—Chemical laboratories are classed as industries engaged in continuous processes.

7th—Offices of physicians, surgeons, dentists and others practicing similar professions are not subject to any of the restrictions.

Additional modifications of the original regulations, the necessity for which has been pointed out, are hereby made effective as follows:

1st—All departments of coal mines, with offices and commissaries incidental to their operation, are exempted.

2nd—Garages and automobile filling stations may operate outside of hours fixed for mercantile establishments, for storage and for the sale of gasoline, oil and accessories and for emergency repairs, provided only safety lights are used for the purpose.

3rd—Churches, schools, fraternal orders, and charitable, religious and community service organizations are not subject to the regulations.

4th—Chambers of Commerce, civic committees, merchants' organizations and other such bodies are not subject to the regulations.

Cancellation of all arrangements for operation of special train service to Frankfurt on occasion of the inauguration of Gov-elect Edwin P.

Morrow, Tuesday, was announced at Louisville Friday night by Joseph C. Michael, secretary to W. L. Mapother.

This is the first action taken on an order from the Southern Regional Director announcing materials curtailment of passenger service effective at 12:01 o'clock Tuesday morning.

AN EXTRA GUEST FOR XMAS

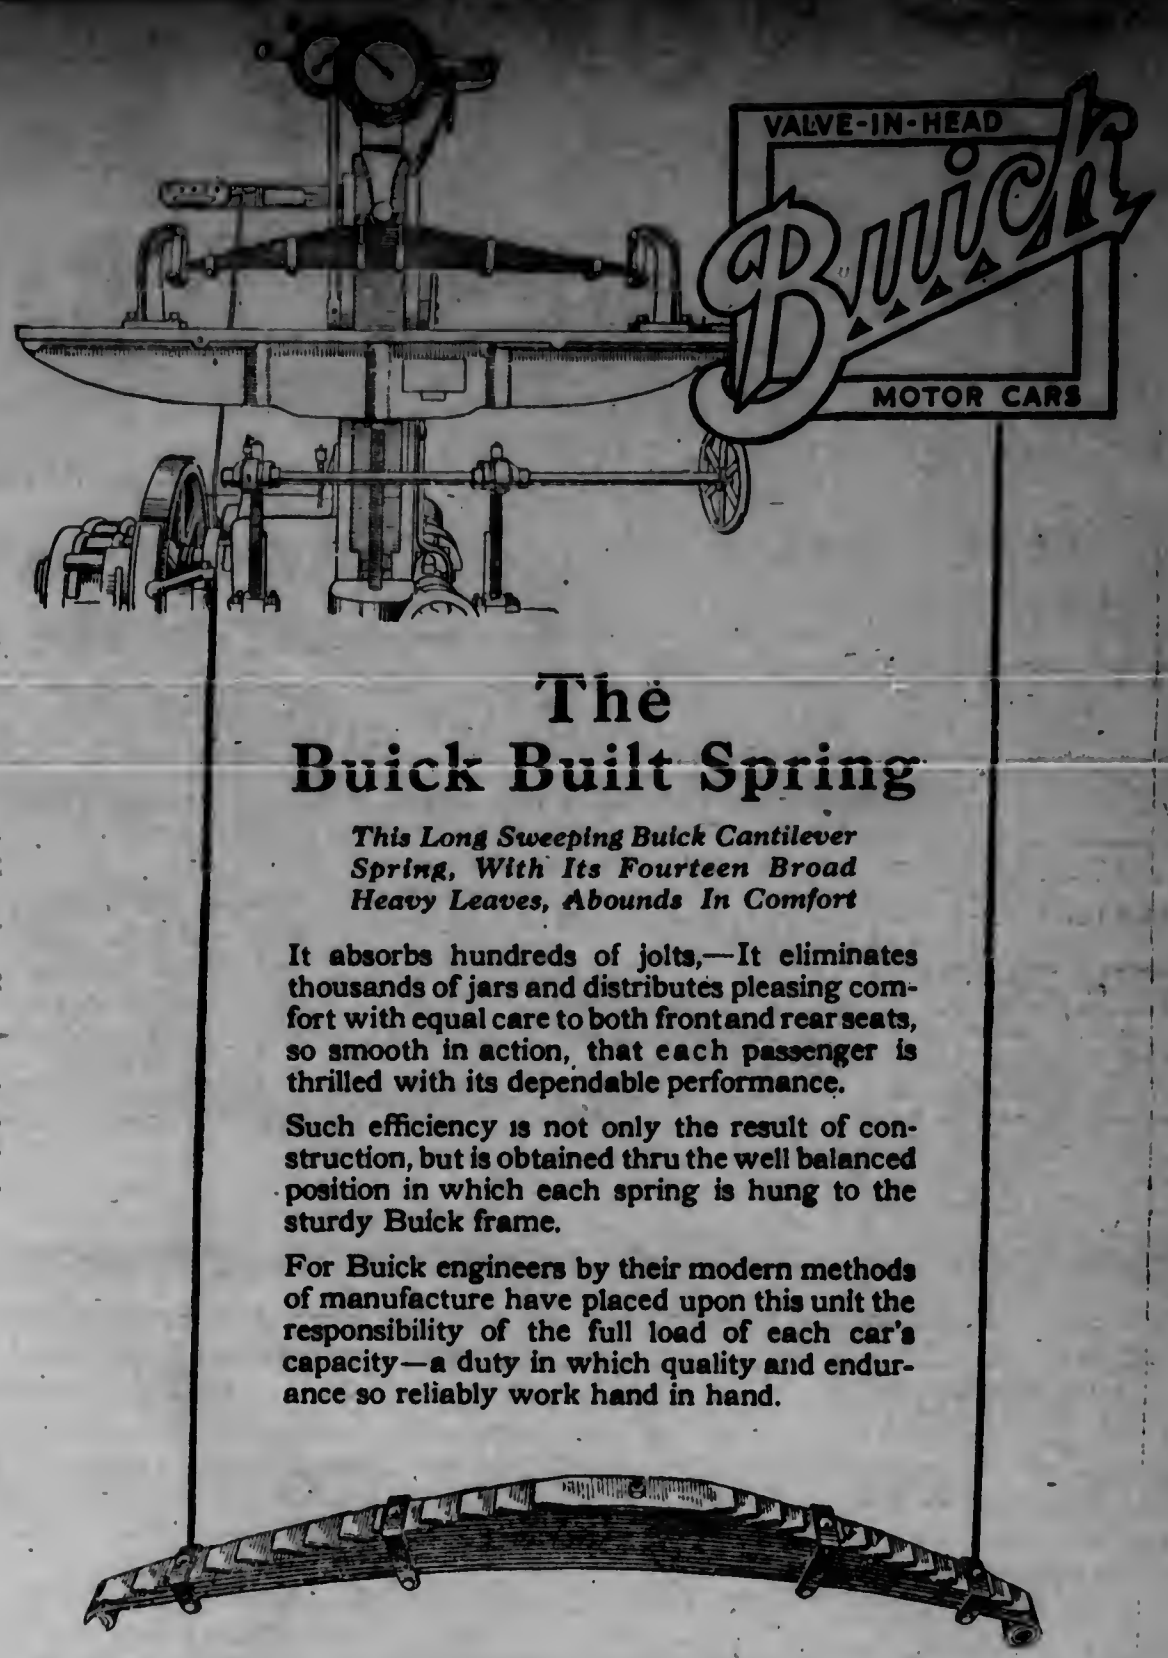

Holly in the window, turkey in the oven, presents weighting down the glittering tree, Christmas cheer in the air.

Can't you make room for one more guest in your Christmas heart—especially if it happens to be a little child whose eyes are big and lonesome, and whose little body looks as if it had been hungry for a good long time?

For just ten cents you can feed the hungry stomach of such a child on Christmas Day. For $3.00 you can care for it for the whole of the Christmas month. And if you can dig down in your Christmas pocketbook and pull out $36.50 all in one lump, you can be godparent to a little child or girl for a whole year, being put in touch with it through correspondence.

What kind of a child? Well, what do you think about a little ten-year-old boy, who for three years worked every day from sunup to sundown, sawing up branches of trees for fuel? He must support one crippled leg with a huge stone while he worked. One end of a huge cross-cut saw was pressed against his tiny chest, the other braced against the ground, as with outstretched arms he drew toward him the branches which were to make fuel and earn 40 cents a week for himself and an old grandfather.

Or how about a little six-year-

600 Acres in Four Small Farms at PUBLIC AUCTION

CHARLESTOWN, INDIANA.

Thursday, December 11th

At 10 A. M., Rain or Shine

TO DISSOLVE PARTNERSHIP OF HORTON & MURPHY

This is a great opportunity for anyone in search of a farm to secure one at a reasonable price. This land will grow anything, and just as plentifully as can be raised on Fayette county land, and can be bought at about 50 per cent. of the price of Fayette county land.

Why not follow the many Kentuckians who already live in this neighborhood? Samples of tobacco raised on this land this year can be seen at the office of Frazer & Jackson, 148 West Short Street, Lexington, Ky.

These farms are situated about 20 miles from Louisville, on traction line, with 35-cent car fare.

FARM NO. 1—Contains 165 acres; extra good level laying land for corn and tobacco, or anything you wish to raise. Improvements consist of residence of eight rooms, 10-acre tobacco barn, stock barn, silo, tenant house and numerous outbuildings. Orchard, and finely watered and fenced. One mile from Charlestown on the Charlestown and Washington pike.

FARM NO. 2—Adjoins No. 1 and contains 155 acres of extra good corn, tobacco and wheat land; has two good frontages. Improvements: 2-story 8-room residence, 10-acre barn, stock barn, etc. More than one-half of this farm in old blue grass. Finely watered and fenced.

FARMS NOS. 3 and 4—About two miles beyond above farms, on same roads, containing 290 acres, with plenty of improvements, such as barns, tenant houses, etc. Nearly all bottom land and will grow the best of tobacco, corn and wheat.

Charlestown is the second richest town in the state, having a population of about 1,200; two banks, five churches, public High School.

Free Kentucky Burgoo. Bolivar Bond, the celebrated auctioneer of the South, will be on the block. Very liberal terms, and conditions will be made known on day of sale. For further information.

old girl, who, when the Germans carried away every boy baby from her town was thrown to the pavement by a burly German when she proved to be a girl? She is permanently crippled. Her mother was taken away by the Germans, her father was killed in the war.

These are just two of the 3,000,000 French orphans of the war. They are being taken care of now, but thousands of others are without help or friendship. All are fatherless, many have lost their mothers, either taken away by the Germans, or dead from exposure, privations, or in the bombardments. The fatherless children of France, an American organization co-operating with a similar one in France, of which Marshal Joffre is the head, is trying to furnish American aid to the extent of ten cents a day per child, to add to the tiny pension the French government has been able to grant orphans of the war. Every cent contributed for a child goes directly to it. Not one penny is used either in this country or in France for any other purpose; the expenses of the work are borne by generous friends.

Can't you add one of these children to your Christmas list? Not only the money, but your friendship will mean to such a child a new belief in the Providence of God, a new love and thankfulness, and will help to wipe out the memories of horror and suffering, and the unthinkable atrocities which these children have witnessed.

To become a "godparent" to a child, or to make a Christmas donation, write to Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Chairman of the Special Campaign Committee of this organization; who will mail a booklet of translated letters from some of the little children already helped, to any who will send a stamped, self-addressed envelope of business size to her at Room 928, 410 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

A FARMER carrying an express package from a big mail-order house was accosted by a local dealer.

"Why didn't you buy that bill of goods from me? I could have saved you the express, and besides you would have been patronizing a home store, which helps pay the taxes and builds up this locality."

The farmer looked at the merchant a moment and then said:

"Why don't you patronize your home paper and advertise? I read it and didn't know that you had the stuff I have here."

Mayor Issues Proclamation Setting Forth That New Order Does Not Apply Here

Mayor W. R. McKee has issued a proclamation stating that in his opinion the new fuel order does not apply to Mt. Sterling, and accordingly the stores not burning coal may remain open under said opinion. The proclamation follows:

"According to my construction of the latest ruling of the Fuel Administration the closing order does not apply to those using natural gas or anthracite coal for heating or natural gas for lighting. The restrictions on the use of electricity for lighting remain the same. You are hereby requested to watch the daily papers for modifications of the heat and light regulations and govern yourself accordingly."

Signed W. R. McKee, Mayor.

It is reported that the miners have accepted the proposition of the President to end the strike, which is as follows:

"A 14 per cent. wage increase, and the appointment by the President of a commission of three to investigate working conditions and operator's profits and determine if a further wage increase is warranted."

If it is a fact that the miners have accepted the President's terms it will be a good while before there will be enough coal mined to meet normal requirements, and restrictions will remain in force possibly for months.

The Mayor's proclamation is meeting with the approval of the general public and it is to be hoped that he has placed the proper construction upon the order.

NEW PARCEL POST DELIVERY

DOMESTIC SERVICE COURSES PLANNED

Trained Home-Maker Is to Have an Eight Hour Day and Standard Minimum Wage.

Courses for training home assistants, who will go into the home by the day, hour or week and work on a schedule of hours and fixed wages, have been inaugurated by the Young Women's Christian Association as a means for meeting the problem of domestic service.

The object of this course, now being tried out in New York City, is to place domestic service on the same dignified basis as clerical work, trained nursing or other professions open to women.

The home assistant will work eight hours a day for a salary of $15 a week. She will not live in the home of her employer or take her meals there. She will have an hour for luncheon, when she can go to a restaurant or eat a lunch which she has brought with her just as she would were she employed in a factory. The employer will not address the home worker by her first name. She will be Miss Smith or Mrs. Brown, as the case may be.

Applicants for the course are carefully selected, and registrants are appearing in large numbers. With the same independence as to recreation hours, places of eating and living as the factory girl, house-work has a greater appeal, as being a less monotonous and more interesting work to the average woman.

The course is a thorough one in plain cooking, waiting on table and door, chamber work, plain sewing, care of children, making of meals and the washing and ironing of light things. Heavy work is to be done by outside workers. On graduation the student receives a certificate which proves her qualification as a dependable home-worker capable of attending to all ordinary duties in a home.

The Young Women's Christian Association has been interested in the problem of domestic service both from the standpoint of the employee and from that of the employer for some years. The first commission on Household Employment made its report at the fifth national convention of the Young Women's Christian Association held in Los Angeles, Cal., in May, 1915.

The difficulties of attracting capable women to this field of work were held to the long hours, lack of independence in arranging recreation hours, lack of opportunities for growth and progress and lack of social standing.

Girls have acquired a distaste for the conditions which govern household work since the freedom they have experienced in working in munition factories. By standardizing domestic service it is believed by the Young Women's Christian Association that a higher type of worker may be attracted to the necessary work in homes.

The American Y. W. C. A. has opened a Hostess House in Germany, which will serve as a residence house and social center for American women war workers who have advanced to do canteen, Red Cross and Signal Corps work with the Army of Occupation.

TO RESTORE FINISH.

Most brides now bewail the fact that furniture has lost its "new" look. The sheen of grandma's "high-boy" is soon lost beneath a coating of clay dust. The library table soon shows signs of last night's card game.

A simple little formula that has been known to help is the following: To a half-bucket of water, add a tablespoonful of olive oil. Using a soft cloth, wipe off the furniture. Follow this with a brisk polishing with a dry cloth. You will be surprised to see the brilliant finish that is revealed. Mahogany, particularly, is benefited by this treatment.

Austrians are starving and they are on the verge of anarchy. This is the verdict of Lucian Jones, the Vienna correspondent of the London Daily Express. He says millions are starving or perishing from cold and if they are not assisted they may rise up in their determination to live and seize everything they can lay their hands on. There is no coal and for weeks past the people of Vienna and other cities in Austria have been tearing up park benches for fuel. All the wood in street signs have been used. Of 100,000 children in Vienna between the ages of one and four, probably 80,000 are suffering from diseases due to lack of milk. War is certainly hell when it leads to the starvation of women and children.

Misfortune is a mystic gaze. Many a man gets into trouble with his eyes open who can't find his way out.

Strikers are costly. New York printers struck in defiance of the International Typographical Union and after eight weeks idleness voted to return to work. In wages the men are said to have lost between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000. Employers say they have lost ten times as much, or between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000. About 5,600 pressmen and paper handlers struck. This strike tied up 260 job and book plants. It is said the publishing business of New York has been scattered among other cities and about 1,500 men will be out of work until this business can be brought back to Manhattanville. History Club Meets

The Women's History Club had its regular weekly meeting in the club rooms Friday. An especially interesting program was given, with Mrs. Hattie Howell leader for the afternoon's study, which was "The Jewish Race in America." Splendid papers were read by Mrs. Howard VanAntwerp and Mrs. W. H. Strossman. Mrs. T. Benton Hill gave a reading that was greatly enjoyed. Current events were read and discussed by the other members in attendance.

MISS RODMAN

WEDS TODAY

Popular Young Society Girl Becomes Bride of Prominent Young
Business Man

At the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. Charles A. Lindsay on West Main street at 3 o'clock this afternoon, Miss Julia Bainbridge Rodman, beautiful young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Rodman, became the bride of Mr. George Withrow Warwick, of Frankfort and Pittsburgh.

The rooms on the lower floor of the handsome home were thrown together and quantities of white chrysanthemums, combined with Southern smilax, were used in the decorations. Baskets of the lovely blooms were placed on the mantles and every available nook. Tulle streamers, with white roses, marked the place for the bridal party.

The bride, who is an unusually handsome girl, was never lovelier than on this, her wedding day. She wore her mother's wedding gown, an exquisite creation of ivory satin with pearl trimmings and a Juliet cap, and wedding veil of pearls and tulle. Her bouquet was an artistic arrangement of swansonia and snap dragon.

To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march Miss Rodman entered the parlors alone, followed by her maid of honor, Miss Helen Warwick, of Frankfort, who was wearing a dainty gown of pink satin, and carrying pink roses. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. Will Collins, of North Middletown. Dr. M. V. P. Yeaman, of the Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony, using the impressive ring service. Master Lewis Lindsay, handsome young nephew of the bride, acted as ring bearer, carrying the ring on a white satin pillow.

Preceding the ceremony a short program of wedding music was given by Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick, of this city at the piano, and by Miss Olive Smith, gifted violinist, who is a student at the Lexington College of Music. An informal reception was held after the wedding and the young couple were showered with congratulations and good wishes. Dainty refreshments were served, with Miss Laura Hart presiding at the coffee table.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Mary Warwick, Miss Helen Warwick, Mrs. James Montgomery, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. James Montgomery, Jr., Dr. Feamster, of Frankfort; William Collins, of North Middletown.

Mr. and Mrs. Warwick left on the 4:35 train for a bridal trip to Chicago and other points. After January first they will be at home to their friends in Pittsburgh.

STRAYED

Musical

Music lovers of this city enjoyed a rare treat in the musicale which was given here Friday night under the auspices of the music department of the Women's History Club. The large auditorium of the Christian church was filled with an appreciative audience to whom was presented Mr. Carlos Buhler, pianist, and Mr. Carl Lampert, violinist, in the following beautiful program:

Prelude

Gavotte Bach
Canzonetta D'ambrosio
Mr. Lampert and Mr. Buhler
Capriccio Searlatti (1659-17-5)
Spanish Dance Chopin
Scherzo Chopin
Mr. Buhler

WAY OF THE WORLD

Weep and you are called a baby, laugh and you are called a fool, yield and you are called a coward, stand and you are called a mule, smile and they call you silly, frown and they call you gruff, put on a front like a millionaire, and some guy calls your bluff.

Hartman, the finest wardrobe trunk made, shown in Mt. Sterling by The Walsh Co.

It is a good thing to be cautious. But some folks are so cautious that they wear their winter underwear in July.

A wife and four or five children are great things to keep a man from worrying over whether his socks wrinkle around his ankles or not.

Truth travels at a snail's pace. Early in 1918 an American woman, passing as a Red Cross nurse, told a harrowing tale of her treatment by German soldiers. She said that she had been taken a prisoner and branded deeply on the breast with a hot iron. One American periodical with a circulation of 1,000,000 copies printed a flaming story of the "inhuman outrage." Now it happens that the heroine never crossed the Atlantic in her life. She invented the tale of horror and won for herself a proud place among the women who had served their country on the other side of the ocean. Imagination is a wonder worker.

Don't ask the Lord to deliver you from the Meat Trust. The Lord is not acquainted with such people.

GREY NOT A TRAVELER.

It is generally believed that most Englishmen are born travelers, but Lord Grey of Falloden, the new British ambassador to the United States, is an exception. In coming to America Lord Grey makes the third trip out of England since his birth. While minister of foreign affairs in the Asquith cabinet, in 1914, Lord Grey boasted that he had never spent the entire week out of England in his life.

Twice he has been to France, once in 1900 for the exposition at Paris, where he arrived in the morning and left at night; and a second time when he was compelled to be present at an official visit of King George to Paris.

A READY WRITER.

"I suppose your boy is giving a good account of himself at college?" "Indeed he is," replied Mr. Grabcoin, "almost every time he writes home. In the last letter I received, he gave such a good account of himself! I discounted its improbability and sent him a check for $500."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

MOLLIFYING MOLLY.

Jack—So you kissed Mary when she wasn't looking. Was she annoyed?

Tom—Oh, quite a bit; in fact I had to do it over again when she was looking.—Boston Evening Transcript.

FREE ADVICE.

Morton—There is one thing about advice.

Burleigh—What's that?
"It is about the one thing free which people don't want to take."—London Answers.

HIS MOTHER KNOWS HIM.

Nurse (to wounded man just brought in)—Tell me your name so that I can notify your mother.
Alabama—My mother knows my name.—The Mess Kit.

We can't all live where we can see the watermelon smiling on the vine. But it isn't so awful tough to have to live where you can see it grinning in the ice box.

GOOD OLD DAYS

The editor may permit his mind to backward go and live for a while in recurrent appreciation of the good old days, when the readers of his weekly productions bestowed on him the palatable productions from the country home. We live there today. It was our good friend, who, by a love act, revived by real gift the thoughts of long ago. We have been in his home when a church body was in conference; we have appreciated the kindness of him and his, and with them have loved the little one of glad cheer and now here it is the good old days have come back and we had to say to our good wife, "Just see what has sent us." Bless the lives of this trio family.

As a man learns that the same results can be obtained in the parlor, he begins to lose interest in the sleigh rides.

SEEMINGLY DEAD TO FEELING

Breton Sailor Cannot Be Made to Suffer in the Ordinary Manner of His Fellows.

The peculiar case of a man who can neither feel pain, cold, nor heat; has no sense of taste or smell, does not know what fatigue means, and is apparently without any emotions, affections, or dislikes, is described by Capt. E. D. Roberts, R. A. M. C., in the Lancet. He is a Breton sailor, who enlisted in the Canadian army, and was treated for mumps in the military hospital at Aldershot. "His body," says Captain Roberts, "is plentifully strewn with the scars of wounds and burns which he has inflicted on himself either for bets or to astonish the onlookers. I have myself seen him on more than one occasion hold a burning match against the skin of his arm for ten or fifteen seconds, and then unconcernedly pick off the charred epidermis." Blows on the head with a poker, the plunging of highly-seasoned substances in his mouth produced no effect, and were not even realized by the man as happening when he had his eyes closed. The man, who is described as well developed, highly good-natured, mentally sound, and above the average in intelligence, dates his complete immunity from an attack of yellow fever at the age of seventeen.

Disasters That Have Befallen Rulers in Years Ending With One Particular Numeral.

Years ending with the figure eight seem to have a certain fatality in the history of kings. Thus 1588 sounded the knell of Philip II's hopes of extended empire; 1618 was the beginning of the Thirty Years' war, with the misery which the ambition of princes brought upon Europe; 1698, by the Petition of Right, marked the first real revolt of the British people against the doctrine of the divine right, a revolt consummated in 1648. The death of Cromwell put a period to another form of autocracy in 1658, and 1688 saw the end of the divine right as practical politics in this country. The first Partition treaty, in 1698, was one of the landmarks in the history of the barter of peoples by their kings. The alliance of France and Spain with the United States in 1778 brought another democratic power into full life, crushed Napoleon's dreams of an eastern empire, while in 1807 he began to sense the pangs of the "Spanish ulcer." And 1848 was the blackest year in the history of kings till 1918.—Manchester Guardian.

Newspapers must raise their advertising and subscription rates and decrease the size. This is the decision of the Southern Newspaper Publisher's Association. It had to come or bankruptcy for many would have solved the problem of the high cost of print paper.

The heart rules the head and real love is always wisdom's true guide. Cold prudence is often defeated by warm affection.

A confirmed bargain hunter will make a daily round of the department stores and then wonder why she looks so shopworn herself.

Some men have good memories, but we never meet one who knew what he said as his part of the marriage ceremony.

It is always something of a shock for a man to return to his old-time town to find that no one missed him greatly.
